FOREWORD

The Criminal Justice System is standing on three pillars:

Investigation,

Prosecution and,

Trial.

2. For effective and smooth functioning of the system these three pillars should appropriately balanced within their respective allocated sphere. Under the provisions contained in chapter XIV of the Criminal Procedure code, the Police investigate offences. The Job of investigations consist of spot inspection, ascertain of facts and circumstances touching the offence under investigation, collection of evidence and arrest of the accused as and when sufficient evidence in support of the charge is made available.

3. There is no denying that without effective investigation, effective prosecution cannot follow. An effective investigation is a condition precedent which provides a concrete base to effective prosecution. It needs no emphasis that the state is not oblivious of this situation. In this background, the KP Prosecution service (Constitution, Functions and Powers) Act No. I of 2005 has been promulgated on 29.01.2005 to re-organize and establish a "Prosecution Institution" for achieving speedy justice and matters ancillary thereto. Its Chapter II pertains to establishment of prosecution institution and Chapter III enunciates a workable mechanism to improve investigation system as a whole as well as investigation of individual cases at district level. Section 8 of the Act is relevant, sub-section 2 thereof makes a station house officer bound to send copy of each FIR of his Police Station to District Public Prosecutor and it bestows an extra-ordinary responsibility on the DPP to peruse FIR and wherever necessary to suo moto issue guidelines to investigation officer and that would be in the shape of directions to the head of investigation, he can also inspect, securitize and supervise the whole investigation process of the cases. Under section 7 (d) of the Act, the Public Prosecutor on completion of investigation by the police shall scrutinize the case file. 'Scrutiny' means to examine a matter from all pros and cons and attend all its aspects with due care and cautions. This mandatory exercise of course delegate upon the prosecutors to find out lacunae into the report under section 173 CRPC or in the investigation so that the same can be cured before submission to the court of law for its trial. I am confident in saying that the office of District Public Prosecutor is not only a post office but it is a bridge between the police and the court to promote the procedure of prosecution for better achievement of justice. After making scrutiny of the report under section 173 CRPC, the prosecutor has to take two steps as have been described in section 4 and 7 of the Act and that are either he has to return the report to the investigation officer after pointing out the defects with the instructions to remove the same or he has to forward it to the court of law, if he found it fit for submission before the trial court. This exercise also makes it clear that the intention of the Act is to confer on the prosecutor the powers to examine the matter minutely and then take steps as he deems appropriate after making his legal expert opinion.

4. For successful prosecution, the prosecutors ought to consider certain principles such as:

Whether the provisions of code of criminal procedure has been violated? If so, how to make the necessary rectification.

If the FIR contains technical flaws, how to streamline the case during the investigation as well as prosecution.

Whether the investigating officer conducted the investigation as per law? If not, how might the case be improved upon.

Do the oral, documentary and circumstantial evidence comply with the criteria laid down in the Qanoon-e-Shahadat Order, 1984

Whether the facts as reflected in the FIR have been addressed in the challan i.e. report under section 173 CRPC? If not, how to plug the loop holes.

Whether the challan has been submitted in court within the prescribed period as laid down in section 173 CRPC?

Whether the defense of the accused, if any, is plausible? If not, how to highlight and rebut the same before the court?

5. The principles of ethics, etiquettes and mannerism are also very important for effective prosecution. Accordingly the prosecutors must be:

Independent in the performance of their functions and should exercise them free of any extraneous influence, inducement, pressure, threats or interference (direct or indirect) from any quarter or for any reason.

The prosecutors shall all times uphold the rule of law, the integrity of criminal justice system and the right to a fair trial.

They shall at all time respect the fundamental rights of all concerned to be held before the law and abstain from any wrongful discrimination.

They shall not use or disclose confidential information acquired in their capacity as a prosecutor for any purpose unconnected with the performance of their duty or the needs of justice.

They must always act in the interest of justice and not solely for the purpose of obtaining a conviction.

6. No doubt, our prosecutors and our system are facing several problems and challenges and also lapses in the relevant law, but even then they are trying to deliver. In the wake of growing extremism, militancy and terrorism coupled with the sophisticated nature of crime in the society, reforming the Criminal Justice System is not only a necessity now-a-days but it should also be our national Priority so that all stake holders of the system should be in a better position to deliver in a more professional manner. I believe that effective investigation followed by effective prosecution is imperative to combat crime in the society and for this the Government should play its due role to strengthen the concerned departments such as Police and Prosecutions etc. Moral bankruptcy and corrupt practices should also be discouraged for effective delivery in Criminal Justice System. Although the justice system is far from perfect, a close liaison between prosecution and investigation agency could play a decisive role in overcoming all the difficulties to ensure that the perpetrators of crime can be successfully brought to justice.

DEAN'S NOTE

The Khyber Pakhtunkhwa Judicial Academy Act, 2012 in section 4 laid down the Aims and Objectives of the Academy. It inter-alia also included training to the personnel of all those departments, organizations, bodies and institutions, which are directly or indirectly connected with the system of administration of justice like police, Prosecutors, Government Pleaders, Probation Officers.

The role of the public prosecutor in a wider paradigm of the justice system is significant. Realizing the importance the Academy in collaboration with UNDP arranged the present training course. The requisites functions of the public prosecutor entail to prosecute, watch or direct the prosecution of cases in the courts of the district. He is required to supervise and distribute the work of prosecuting officers subordinate to him. Public prosecutor is legally required to scrutinize challans and intermediate reference and applications from police stations in connection with the prosecution of cases. He is to deal with, articles and property received in connection with cases. He is supposed to supervise the transmission of warrants and summonses to the executive police under the orders of the criminal courts, and to see that returns to such processes are made without delay etc. He maintains a register of proclaimed offenders declared as such by the courts. He has other multifarious duties to perform as state counsel. Chapter XXX-VIII of the CrPC in part IX from sections 492-495 deals with the appointment, duties etc of the Public Prosecutors. A Public Prosecutor means any person appointed under section 492 CrPC and includes Assistant Public Prosecutor and any person conducting prosecution under public prosecutor.

Keeping in view this aspect the exercise was meant to identify the role of each stakeholder in the justice system, be able to pinpoint likely steps tools and mechanism that can be resorted to for improved performance. Thus the need to amplify the training process of PP would entail an overall improvement in the judicial process.

A training need assessment was conducted with the identify the areas in which the PP's knowledge and capacity would be enhanced. The gaps identified included common flaws in investigation process; one of the grey areas which required training. Subjects included Professional Conduct, ethics & mannerism, Role of Prosecutor & importance of prosecution, Scrutiny of brief -- pre-trial stage, The concept of Hadd, Qisas & Tazir with focus on hurt, Concordance & discordance of laws, The Role of Prosecutor during Trial, Justice of Peace, Role of Prosecutors in Pre-trial proceedings, Law of Bail, and Developing effective communication skills were imparted.

We hope that our learned readers would find this report interesting and highly informative. We continuously work to improve. Any positive suggestions by the readers will be welcome which could be reflected the future trainings.

INTRODUCTION

This 05-day training course aims at developing skills of Regular Prosecutors in effective and efficient prosecution. Two trainings of 05-day duration on this course were rolled out on 8th Nov 2016. These were sponsored by Strengthening Rule of Law Project [SRLP] UNDP.

Prosecution plays a significant role in the criminal justice system. On promulgation of the THE KHYBER PAKHTUNKHWA PROSECUTION SERVICE CONSTITUTION, FUNCTIONS AND POWERS ACT, 2005 an independent prosecution service was established thereby exclusive spheres were provided to investigators & prosecutors to independently evaluate the cases and sift the facts from the falsities. There is a downside to this independence, the Prosecution service needs to build its capacity and institutional strength as the weakness on account of the nascence may at time casts doubts over the efficacy of this separation of prosecution from the investigation.

KPJA has the statutory mandate of capacity uplift of the key players of the Justice sector. An inseparable segment of the justice sector is Prosecution. For achieving this goal KPJA has devised an integrated approach of training. Prosecutors have participated in a variety of our academic programmes, ranging from trainings to workshops and seminars.

The proposed training is a further step in that direction.

Aims & Objectives

The capacity building of prosecutors

Objectives

The participants would be able to:

- develop their communication skills
- Have more knowledge of their role in pre-trial & trial proceedings
- Explore professional ethics
- Have a well-focussed study of their role as prosecutors
- wriggle their way in the concordance and discordance of laws.

PROCEEDINGS

Day-1

On 8th Nov 2016, the training session started at 8.30 am with the registration and Pre-Evaluation Activity. This was carried out online in Google Forms. Through registration the profile of trainees is recorded, while pre-evaluation helps us to evaluate both trainees' and trainers' performance by drawing a differential between pre and post training knowledge and understanding.

The 1st lecture was on Professional Conduct, Ethics & Mannerism. It was delivered by Mr. Muhammad Bashir Khan, Judge Anticorruption Provincial. The learned Resource Person discussed the Service Rules and Regulations dimension of honesty, loyalty to the cause, patience & tolerance.

Dr. Qazi Attaullah, Director Instructions - II delivered his second lecture of the day on the CONCEPT OF HADD, QISAS & TAZIR HAVING FOCUS ON HURT. Dr. Sb discussed different kinds of hurts from the prospective of the Qisas & Diyat Ordinance. The Shariah background was elucidated. Participants were familiarized with the different connotations. Through the aid of pictorials the differentiations between different types of injuries was made.

The next lecture was delivered by Mr. Niaz Muhammad Khan, District & Sessions Judge. The learned Resource person is an icon researcher and there are many compilations to his credit. Sometime in the past Mr. Niaz had designed and delivered a presentation on, 'Concordance & Discordance of Laws' in a training course of Judicial Officers. The lecture was highly appreciated and found of practical importance by the field judicial officers. During the process of designing this training course, a short Training Need Assessment was carried out through telecom. It revealed a need for training on this topic, as on account of emerging laws, the question of precedence of one law on the other has gained considerable significance. With this background the topic was included. Mr. Niaz as always made the presentation to the best of his abilities and was widely appreciated.

Day - 2

The concept of the JUSTICE OF PEACE was introduced in Indo-Pak Subcontinent during the British Rule. The rationale was to execution of executive authority through designated personals. On inclusion of subsection 6 to section 22A Criminal Procedure Code, the significance of the Justice of peace has attained considerably. A Court of Session would now invariable be confronted with petitions moved in the capacity of Justice of Peace. This was the reason for adding this lecture to the course. Mrs. Sofia Waqar Khattak, Senior Director Administration made the presentation. She discussed the historical development of the concept of justice of peace. In a chronological order the various amendments made in section 22A CrPC was discussed. The salient case laws were also brought to the notice of the participants.

The second lecture of the day, was on SCRUTINY OF BRIEF -- PRE TRIAL STAGE. Before the promulgation of THE KHYBER PAKHTUNKHWA PROSECUTION SERVICE CONSTITUTION, FUNCTIONS AND POWERS ACT, 2005.

In the past the role of prosecution and police overlapped considerably. At the lowest tier the Police Officer had in the past acted as Prosecutors. With the many evils that this duplicity brought there were some positive effects. Years of experience of working as both Prosecutor and investigator had build considerably experienced work force. These were conversant in scrutiny of the pre-trial briefs and steering the course of investigation. In this background, Mr. Falak Nawaz Khattak, Assistant Inspector General of Police was selected as the resource person for this topic. He had work as Investigators and Prosecutor. For a considerable length of time he had scrutinized the briefs and given opinions.

Sahibzada Sikandar is a retired career prosecutor. The learned Resource Person has many decades of field experience as Prosecutor. He graciously spared time to make a presentation on the ROLE OF PROSECUTOR AND THE IMPORTANCE OF PROSECUTION. The participants appreciates the tips of the trade shared for their guidance by the learned Resource person.

Day-3

The first presentation was on, 'THE ROLE OF PROSECUTORS IN PRE-TRIAL PROCEEDINGS'. I (Mohammad Zeb Khan) had the honor to deliver this presentation. This was stretched over two sessions.

Pre-trial proceedings is of utmost importance to the Prosecutors. At this stage the foundation of the Prosecution case is laid. The stronger the foundation the better would the edifice of the prosecution case. Thus, conceptual clarity of the complicated issues would led to efficient and effective prosecution.

Bail matters are as important to prosecutor as are to defense lawyers. With this in prospective a topic on 'LAW OF BAIL' was added to the course. Mrs. Sofia Waqar Khattak Senior Director Administration was the Resource person. At the outset she discussed the difference between bail and bond. She highlighted that for seeking bail detention or anticipated detention is sine qua non. There was a discussion on pre and post arrest bail besides the post and pre arrest transitory bails. The recent precedents on bail was also brought to the notice of the participants.

The next lecture was the 2nd session on, 'CONCORDANCE & DISCORDANCE OF LAWS'. Mr. Niaz Muhammad Khan was the learned Resource person.

Day-4

A clear understanding of the role assigned to the prosecutors is vital. This gains considerable significance, during trial, as a Prosecution under the CrPC has to play a leading role irrespective of the fact that the complainant can engage a private counsel to plead his case. The Academy selected Mr. Zafar Abbas Mirza Deputy Director KP Prosecution Directorate for presentation on, 'THE ROLE OF PROSECUTOR DURING TRIAL.' The Resource person's presentation was stretched over 02 sessions. He discussed the procedure for trial in special context of the role of prosecutor. The way, an opening statement is to be made, the examination of chief of witness is conducted, the statement of accused recorded and the cross examination of the defense witnesses is carried out. When and where to raise objection on irrelevant cross examination and when to seek declaration of a witness turning hostile. These matters elaborately dealt during the 02 sessions by the Resource person.

Dr. Ismail Wali enlighten the participants on, 'DEVELOPING EFFECTIVE COMMUNICATION SKILLS'. He encouraged them to write and speak simple and plain English. He further explained that the participants should necessarily avoid ambiguous phrases, lengthy sentences and complicated structures in all sorts of communication. The Resource person required the participants that they should always write for their readers. He also drew the attention of the participants towards the Simple and Plain English Act passed in the United State of America. He also placed emphasis on the appropriate and proper use of the active and passive voices in their respective areas.

Day-5

The last lecture of the course was the second session on, 'ROLE OF PROSECUTOR PRE-TRIAL PROCEEDINGS'. This session was moderated by Mohammad Zeb Khan, Director Instructions-I.

Thereafter, post evaluation was carried out. The participants of the two batches were assembled at the Auditorium for the concluding ceremony. The proceedings started with the recitation of the Holy Quran. The Class Representative gave the participants' perspective of the trainings. He thanked the Academy for arranging the trainings. He appreciated the input of the Resource persons besides the arrangements made by the Administration.

Mr. Zia ud Din Khattak, Director General, in his concluding address appreciated the Faculty for designing this training course. He also appreciated the Resource persons for sparing time and for delivering lectures. The DG also applauded the conduct and dedication of the trainee officers. Mr. Adil Saddique Director General Prosecution KPK was invited for the concluded ceremony. He spoke of the future plans for providing facilities to the Prosecutors and appreciated the role of this Academy in its drive to enhance the capacity of the prosecutors.

The Director General, KPJA thereafter bestowed certificates on the trainees of the this course. It was followed by group photo and lunch.
